Hi folks,

For your info, attached (and below) is a synthesis of info about our PFAS Action Plan rollout briefings with the Hill. The attached docs include the Hill offices who attended, plus the Qs&As that came up, organized by Member. Also below is a bit more info about the ever-expanding House PFAS Task Force.

To avoid an unnecessary level of detail (particularly for the Regional recipients of the note below), the last two docs (compiling questions from Hill staff) are only shown at the member level, not at the level of individual staffers. We do have a more granular version of these docs that identify the particular staffer who asked the question; just let me know if you'd like to know who asked a particular question and I can track that down.

Finally, thanks to Greg, Jess, and Hannah for helping with the note-taking and notes-review aspects of the last two docs.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,
Matt

Regional colleagues,

Following up from our OCIR-RCLs call yesterday afternoon, I wanted to send you all some info to help give you all a sense for Congressional involvement in rollout of our PFAS Action Plan, which we released one month ago yesterday.

I've attached a few documents that should help give you a sense for Congressional interest in the plan from folks in your Region. Here's what's attached:

- Talking points and a PowerPoint presentation of the Action Plan. (These are the same as the docs that OPA sent to the PADs earlier this week.)
- An Excel sheet showing, by Region, which Congressional offices RSVPed (or actually attended, if we could confirm) to our D.C. House and Senate briefings on the Action Plan. Our House briefing was on February 22, and our Senate briefing was on February 28. This sheet also (in bold) shows the offices who asked questions during the briefings. Thanks to Tony and Christian with their help leading the briefings and keeping tabs on this info.
- Finally, the last two docs compile the questions, organized by Member, that were asked at the House briefing and at the Senate briefing. On the House side, we held two consecutive briefings – one for House Energy & Commerce committee members, and one for all interested House offices. For ease of categorization, I've tagged Committee staff with the name of the Chairman/Ranking Member they work for.

Two additional pieces of intel:

- 1) We got word last week that the House PFAS Task Force has now expanded to 32 total members. Newly added members include Reps. Khanna (CA), Maloney (NY), McCollum (MN), Torres Small (NM), and Vela (TX). Below my signature block is the current full list of members, organized by Region, with these new members shown in bold.
- 2) As you all know, the House and Senate Action Plan rollout briefings were limited to Hill staff based in DC to help keep our message coordinated. However, now that the rollout is behind us, we welcome your continued, ongoing engagement with your delegations on PFAS and other issues. To the extent Members have questions about the Action Plan itself, please keep us in D.C. in the loop, and we can make sure to identify appropriate HQ folks to be part of the conversation about the Action Plan and associated next steps.

As always, let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks, and enjoy the weekend,
Matt
